Land Acknowledgement

We respectfully acknowledge that the land we are gathered upon for Burn in the Forest 2023 is the traditional, ancestral and unceded territories of the Sylix and Nl̓eʔkepmx peoples. These lands of so-called British Columbia have been the home of these First Nations since time immemorial.

The river that runs through this beautiful site is called Ntstlatko, which means “cold water.” The river runs through two Nl̓eʔkepmx reservations belonging to the people of nc'tetkwu (the Coldwater Indian Band), before flowing past the town of Merritt and connecting with the Nicola River. The Nl̓eʔkepmx and the Coldwater Indian Band have always had a special connection to the Ntstlatko.

As we celebrate together on these lands and along this beautiful river, take a moment to cherish the fact that this place has been intimately connected to Indigenous communities that have lived here for millennia. The ten principles of Burning Man act as a guide to our community and participation in events such as Burn in the Forest. Since many of us are uninvited guests on this land, we encourage you to consider an eleventh principle: to respect this land and its stewards. We also, therefore, invite you to consider what direct actions you can take within your own communities to dismantle colonial oppression and contribute to the empowerment of Indigenous peoples throughout Turtle Island and beyond.

Welcome to Burn in the Forest!

Here are our eleven guiding principles, written in eleven words or less.

This event is not a party, rave, or festival in the traditional sense of the word.

Burn in the Forest is far from your typical festival. It's not about profit or commercialism. It's run entirely by volunteers. Surplus funds support art grants and community programs. It's a distinctive gathering focused on participatory artistic expression. Join us in co-creating this unique community of creativity and connection.

Safety & Taking Care of Yourself

BC Rangers

Need help? Ask a ranger! You can find us at Ranger HQ at Centre Camp or wandering the event in pairs, wearing blue BC Rangers t-shirts. They have radios and can call on-site medical, fire safety, security, harm reduction or Production Team members as needed. Rangers can answer questions, respond to emergencies, help disoriented participants find their way, or mediate disputes.

Consent

Consent is mandatory. Our community is a respectful place for all participants and consent plays a critical role. We will co-create a safe space for radical self-expression while protecting participants against harassment and assault.

Some principles to keep top-of-mind:

- Only an enthusiastic “YES” means yes. Anything less is not consent.
- Be mindful of intoxicants. Remember, under Canadian law, anyone who is under the influence of intoxicants cannot consent.
- Anyone who tries to coerce or manipulate consent, or ignores a “no” will be required to leave the event.

Need help in a situation that is making you uncomfortable? Seek assistance from any Ranger or Production Team member (wearing a radio), visit Ranger HQ or the Medical Station. We will help you.

Harm Reduction

Harm reduction aims to provide tools, strategies and education to empower people to determine their own health and safety. Harm reduction is guided by kindness, compassion and respect for all.

Ask Wellness provides on site education, substance testing and harm reduction supplies. Open Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 2:00pm - 6:00pm and 8:00pm - 11:00pm

The Sanctuary is a safe space where anyone can go, that provides a quiet, calm, comfortable area to relax. Peer support is available by volunteers guided by harm reduction and trauma-informed principles. Open Wednesday at 6:00pm until Sunday at 12:00pm

Medical & Security Services

Paid medical and security staff are on-site 24-hours a day. You can visit the Medics Station at Centre Camp. Alternatively, you may access assistance by asking a Ranger or Production Team Member (anyone with a radio) for help.

Centre Camp

Speaking of taking care of yourself, there are a number of helpful services available at Centre Camp. In addition to the BC Rangers, Substance Testing, the Sanctuary, Medical Services and Security, you can find the Acculturation Ambassadors, Department of Public Works (aka DPW), Lost and Flaied items and the Fix-It Station. If you need help with something, Centre Camp is a great place to start.
